

Dear Gina "Be anything that you want to be" Mollicone-Long,

I am writing to express my appreciation for accepting the invitation to be our featured evening guest speaker at the 2004 Every Woman in the World Conference in July in Whistler.

Gina, your speech at the Every Woman in the World Conference was exceptional. My sincere thanks go out to you for not only your commitment of sharing 'Passion and Fearlessness' during the La Rua Celebration of Movement Dinner, but even more so for truly representing and encompassing the spirit of what it means to be passionate and fearless. Your dedication to the motivation of women & girls of all ages, and your ability to define the most obvious (yet difficult to articulate and often transparent) truths about seeking 'our true colours' was genuinely inspirational to the 50 women who participated in the dinner event.

In addition to the multitude of positive comments I received about 'how amazing Gina is', and 'how well we connected with Gina' and 'what an impact that woman can have!', I had an Every Woman participant approach me one month after the conference. "That weekend changed my life," she said. "Gina's talk at La Rua is the reason why I am now opening a new business and going after a dream idea that I never had the courage to try before."

Gina, you must know how you touch the lives of everyone you meet! You are encouraging, loyal, passionate, full of energy, and REAL. You are a beautiful woman who catalyzes enormous initiatives, and I want to thank you for welcoming me, and all the participants of the Every Woman in the World Conference, into your life.

Yours truly,

Kerri Carlson
